Cityspace buys Kizoom

Cityspace has acquired Kizoom, a UK market leader in delivering real-time transport information to the internet and mobile devices.

Founded in 1999, Kizoom specialises in the development and operation of mobile software applications for major transport operators and selling bespoke customer information software services to public transport companies. Its client list numbers the five biggest UK mobile operators, Transport for London (TfL), National Rail Enquiries, the DfT, Trainline and eight Traveline regions.

The acquisition of Kizoom marks an important milestone in Cityspace's strategic growth plan since Andrew Fraser was appointed as Chief Executive in February. Kizoom's established connections to many public transport real-time and timetabled data feeds opens up opportunities for Cityspace in these complementary organisations and transport regions.
