Cityspace announced the successful roll out of their Vision management system in Norwich. The system delivers bus departures and public announcements to its network of information screens within the city. Before Christmas, the screens will carry real-time information feeds and important disruption announcements, as well as timely and seasonal messages. Cityspace demonstrated their Live Travel Map system, which is designed to give the public fast access to live information on a map based interface. It can be accessed via the internet, public touch screen terminals or by mobile phone.
